Two Hundred Dollar Doctors By Henry Ward Beecher

From the New York Ledger

Nothing is more ... than a ... in our medical ... We think ... through ... what ... Read the following ... a man can do

... I take the liberty of writing to you ... the ... I ... replied ... time ... less ... and is there ... New York ... you whether ... Mr ...
Med...

... indebted to you ... my ... to the above

This school or university as it is styled is too obscure. A man who can in three months' time qualify a ... to practice medicine ought not to hide his light as Professor —— does. Who is he? Where has he studied? What is this surely divine art of teaching? Can we not cover come the modesty of this genius and send to him the thousands of medical students that are wasting two or three years in the expensive city under proper professors who do not dream of turning out a complete practitioner in medicine in less than six or eight years.

But here is a man Professor —— who can take a raw man and hang upon him the whole suit of medicine ... who was a ... manufacturer ... which ready made clothing can be hung—a hundred suits in a day if need be! This is the very thing for which the world has been waiting.

Let a beginner ... Anatomy as it underlies all other parts of medical knowledge may be considered as the ... and Professor ... will put these on to the naked young man. Next ... a ... vest and pants ... Well dressed in that he has need next of an overcoat of knowledge which we consider the ... After that ... represents ... and boots ... Of course there are pockets in every suit of clothes. Surgery obstetrics chemistry and botany and other little matters ... served as convenient pockets.

There the young fellow ... perfectly dressed doctor! But is not three months too long? Is there not here a ... ... to hold on to ... such ... as a ... of ... two hundred dollars? Surely ... will not take Professor —— of —— Medical University three months to tell all he knows about medicine. One month is ample. One week will do. Indeed I am tempted to save my correspondent even that weary length of time and fit him for successful practice in just the time required to read this article.

It is nature that cures. The less a doctor does the better for his patient. It is the doctor's business to take the credit of what nature does. Cultivate a look of mystery. Every moth... a sick child studies the doctor's face. Come in softly but with the ... Look piercingly at the patient, then look from one to another of the persons present. Say to the nurse in a low tone, I think you have a right view of the case, and before you leave say to the mother, I could not have done better for the case myself than you have done. If the child gets well and it will nine times in ten if you let it alone you will have the credit in that family of extraordinary skill. If it dies it will only bring out the moral view—we must all die. When one's time comes no skill can cure &c

But if you really mean to try the medicine dodge you must choose your school. If you are to be an Allopathic you need but three things—opium calomel and antimony. Anything that cannot be reached by them ought not to be cured. With these three swords you can slay all diseases or all the patients and in either case there is an end of suffering.

If you select the homeopathic treatment you have only to buy a manual and a box about as large as a cigar box filled with ... Af ter a little time you can put pill to symptom as rapidly as the post office clerk can distribute letters to name and boxes.

Whichever practice you adopt make much of mild cases. Let it be understood of every case that you lose that you were called too late or that it was the most extraordinary case that you ever met with in all your practice. There is a distraction conferred on a friend who dies in a marvelous manner that gratifies and soothes the wounded feelings of the survivors.

If silence and mystery are not your forte you may have equal success by judicious talking. Many people can be talked out of anything. If laudatory words do not abate symptoms they may ... reputation. The patient may die but ... so that still live think that you are the most knowing doctor that ever they met (and ... your fault if they do not); then you are sure of being called again. Always have an eye to the future. Whoever dies see that the living like you. Deal in ... no practice.

Now this Professor of —— Medical University will ... give you any more ... for two hundred dollars in three months ... given you for the price of a New York Ledger.

Do not turn up your nose at my letter. If you despise it remember that you despise hundreds and thousands of doctors.

There are eccentric and somewhat out of fashion lectors who pretend that there ought to be some regard to moral principle in medical practice; to whatever school a man belongs they hold that he should become thoroughly acquainted with the ... system—with its laws and functions with its morbid as well as normal ... that he should be ... [illegible] ... experience ... he should study ... temperament ... include an amount of knowledge of which the merest elements could not be gained in less than three years.

If you wish to be such a doctor you had better give a wide berth to such fellows as Professor —— and betake yourself to established medical institutions and make up your mind that it will require more than three months or three years to make a ... A doctor unto ... [illegible]

JOKE ON BUTLER We like a good hit even if our own friends suffer. The following from a Southern ... paper must make even old Ben ... laugh.

Below will be ... the funeral sermon of Ben Butler ... Jeremiah ... And ... and the ... the ... and the ... and the cup that which was of gold in gold and that which was of silver in silver the Captain of the guard took away

The Pacific Coast

... the physical ... of the coast was ... The ... of ... higher coast range and then ... another and a higher chain lower however at Puget Sound than further south. Then east of that were the Rocky Mountains. These ranges caught the moisture of that air current and precipitated it in rain which flowed down their sides the greater amount being intercepted however by the first two ranges. Thus the vast range was covered with dense forests of spruces ten feet in diameter and of firs 300 feet high. Puget Sound was the region of lumber supplying English and American vessels and the China trade. These forests ... were ... growing ... that ... west the region where were the grandest forests on ...

... the current the grasses were very rich and abundant. The Indian horses lived all winter on the bunch grass which owing to the little amount of snow falling near the Cascades ... Farmers now frequently let their cattle take care of themselves relying on the perennial growth of grass. The best wheat in America—the best flour—came from Oregon. They might have seen some of the enormous kernels of wheat. That was due to the air current. For the last year Oregon had sent her wheat to New York and Liverpool at a profit. They had all the mines ... which were as yet partially developed and which were found all along the second mountain range and in the spurs of the Rocky.

As far as the climate and the route for a northern railroad were concerned he would say there could be no ... between the three proposed lines. The one from St Paul west would develop a rich country and would also give the shortest way to China and Japan and that with a lower grade. That northern region not only had resources but it was near to them. There was less snow north than south because the higher southern mountains caught more snow while at the north it was very different. There was nothing to make snow of—the current from the Pacific raised the temperature the whole distance.

He had thus mentioned some of the great laws regulating the Pacific coast and would close by saying that Alaska was a good bargain worth five times what was paid ... had a tolerably warm climate ... icebergs and ... there were numerous deer which necessarily had to feed on grass. There were ... salmon and halibut fisheries of great value. The furs there also formed a great item. There were fifty thousand fur bearing animals killed by the Russian Fur Company a few years ago. There was coal which the Russians used in 1860 ... in their steam engines. There were also immense lumber interests in Alaska. The acquisition of that country had been very advantageous to the whaling trade because whalers could refit at Sitka or Kodiak instead of going to Honolulu or San Francisco and save months. By applying that to twenty ships it made a great saving.

He hoped his remarks would lead to an inquiry into the prospects and resources of the great Northwest.

Survey of the Northern Boundary Line of New Mexico

The Commissioner of the Land Office has received advices from United States Astronomer Darling designated by the Secretary of the Interior to determine the survey and mark the northern boundary of New Mexico stating that the party had reached the Rio Grande 148 miles west of the initial point on the 6th of September. The eastern part of the line passes over a region of country which has never before been traveled by white men. It was generally supposed that it was a beautiful rolling prairie. Colonel Darling represents the first twenty miles west of the initial point as a rolling plain covered with a luxuriant growth of nutritious grass but destitute of wood or water. The next fifty miles of the line is over an exceedingly rugged region. The general character of the country is comparatively level but it is intersected by numerous canyons with almost perpendicular walls in some instances ... 00 feet high. Deposits of iron occur in great abundance over all this distance and were sufficient to cause a change of twenty six degrees in the magnetic needle in going the distance of a quarter of a mile. The Cimarron river which the party had occasion to traverse for over a hundred and fifty miles is almost dry during the summer season the water standing only in stagnant pools. The valley of this stream is from one half to five miles wide and will become a most valuable agricultural region while the uplands are clothed with a fine growth of good grass and will be of value as grazing lands. Approaching the headwaters of the Cimarron river water becomes more plentiful. For six weeks the party were compelled to supply themselves with water from pools formed in the ledges of rock collected by rains but in coming near the Raton Mountains an abundant supply of pure cold water was found in the small mountain streams which resemble those of Pennsylvania. The line crosses the summit of the snowy range of the Raton Mountains ... miles west of the initial point. The party crossed the summit August ... and ... passes through the ... the largest portion of New Mexico ... day blocks about ... feet ... back and contains some 1 000 inhabitants. It is situated on the eastern border of the San Luis valley watered by the Rio Grande and its tributaries one of the finest agricultural and grazing districts in the United States. The valley contains a large number of settlers who engage in agriculture to a limited extent but are chiefly interested in raising sheep and cattle a branch of industry which proves highly remunerative from the fact that stock graze in the valleys throughout the year and require no feeding. ... the reported hostility of the Indians in that quarter the party was ... by a war party of ... the middle of November ... the whole length of the line is ...

A Southerner on the Moral of the Late Elections

The Lynchburg Virginian a thorough Copperhead ... of the Southern variety publishes the following communication in opposition to its own view of the moral of the late elections which it speaks of ... as emanating from a very high authority. We infer that the writer served in the rebel army ... says that he has proved his ... in obedience to his sense of duty to the whole country by taking his life in his hand and marching bravely to the bloody combat that was to decide the great issues suspended thereon.

... October 15 1868

... Dear Sir: As we are about to enter upon another era in the course of ... I desire to prevent misrep... as possible by a few words of friendly expostulation at the threshold.

Your article this morning, entitled "Moral of the Late Elections," is full of misapprehensions. You interpret the verdict of the elections as a pronunciation of continued hostilities to the South, and as a declaration of coming oppressions compared with which past grievances are as the weight of a little finger to the weight of a man's loins.

Allow me to assure you that it has been just such utterances as these coming from the newspapers of the South that have tended to produce the very result you now deplore.

Is it not time for this way of dealing with great political questions and great moral evils to stop? If you desire to break "the rod of the oppressor" you can only do it with gentle words that turn away wrath. Many have tried every form of denunciation and ... has accomplished nothing. All your dispassionate friends of which I claim to be one have constantly told you that you were only playing cards into the hands of the extremists and depriving all fair minded men of the power to serve you.

Will you now go on with this futile warfare until you have alienated forever those whom your clamors have silenced?

I beg you to pause—look around you. The State of Virginia is in profound tranquility, the laws are silently obeyed, there are few crimes, and no atrocious outrages. Your fellow citizens desire rest from strife and a return of friendly intercourse with all sections, all classes, and all races.

The harvests of the season have been blessed, comfort and plenty are returning to your lately desolate houses, people are coming in from sister States to buy your lands and to develop your magnificent resources. Comparative good feeling prevails between all classes; the negro is still waiting for you to take him by the hand, he is respectful and willing to work on fair wages, the ballot is in his hand and if you show yourself to be his friend he will let you educate him and lead him for he is a child. In a word all which ... of peace and future prosperity, unless you ... something to stir up the angry passions that now slumber in Virginia and ought soon to die out.

Let me say then that the masses of the North are not your enemies, and do not wish to oppress you. They do rebuke the letter of Frank Blair, which only tended to injure you and keep up strife; they were alarmed at the threats of Howell Cobb, Robert Toombs and others, they resent the social ostracism which prevails here and does not prevail in the North as thousands can testify who have visited the North; they feel uneasy about the safety of the avowed Union man and the future lot of the negro. This sums up the whole moral of the late elections. They may be wrong, they may be mistaken, but they act upon their convictions from the tone of the Southern press. You are just as likely to be mistaken about them as they are to be mistaken about you. From the good, calm and sensible men of both sides we have nothing to fear. Let such men try to enlighten the rest.

The first questions that Virginia will have to decide will be sufficient to tax the patriotism and political sagacity of her best minds. I speak without authority but I believe that the lately proposed constitution is already a dead letter, and that a new opportunity will be afforded to the people to frame an organic law which shall settle the status of citizenship as a basis of representation and decide upon your reconstruction under the fourteenth amendment, now a fixed fact.

Here is an ample field for learning and debate. Do not injure yourselves by rushing further into the fierce arena of political feuds, lest you make more enemies than you gain friends. The question of the next National Administration is substantially decided and that it will certainly inure to your benefit unless you provoke the wrath of the friends of good government.

A word as to Gen Grant. I believe in Grant, because I think that he has the national honor and the good of the whole people at heart, because he is free from political animosities and visionary theories, because if elected he will be listened to by both sections and listen to both, and there may come an end of strife—he may prove a hope and a shield to the fallen South, and turn the sword of the victorious North into the pruning hook of peace because he will invoke moderate legislation working with time and the progressive spirit of the age to advance those common interests of all classes and races which party hate prejudice and rancor have obstructed; because the inevitable submission of the South to his election will enable Congress to be more liberal as to test oaths and political disabilities; because he will uphold all our civil rights and set his face equally against fanaticism and rebellion and, finally because he will reduce our expenses, lessen our taxes and make capacity and honor the qualifications for office.

Yours truly PEACE

Useless Strategy

We have [illegible] recently [illegible] Chapman [illegible] the [illegible] learned [illegible] Secretary May [illegible]

The letter informs the Secretary that he has no authority to draw warrants upon the Treasury for debts [illegible] until appropriations have been made. The object of course is to force the Governor to call a special session of the Legislature, on which the financial stringency which the Radicals will improve the opportunity to establish a partisan programme which [illegible] so ingloriously failed. We think the strategy as well as their aim is at fault on this point. The Governor will scarcely call a special session. The present chaotic condition of affairs is the result of Democratic partisanship, and if the Governor does his duty he will let the Democratic expectants wait till the [illegible] no sooner than gratify them by taking the course they demand.

Col Chapman informs the Secretary that "to continue or institute the practice of drawing warrants to the amount of two hundred thousand dollars for the next year without an appropriation would seriously impair the credit of the State. The warrants themselves would depreciate probably fifty per cent, causing the State to pay exorbitant prices for all she would buy." Now all or nearly all the expenses of the State are fixed by law. The State buys very little. Those who have contracts from the State have taken them at fixed prices, and if the warrants depreciate the loss will fall not on the State but on the contractor. But the warrants will not depreciate materially. The interest they bear will almost command the money for them. There are a few things which the State must buy such as stationery for the departments and perhaps pen knives and mucilage for the members of the Legislature but the aggregate of the purchases which are to be made by the State will probably not amount to ten per cent. of the two hundred thousand dollars which Col Chapman tells us will be expended in this one year of economical (?) Democratic rule.

The Secretary does not and cannot know whether the appropriations are sufficient to meet expenses or not. That is no part of his business. His duties are defined by law and when a debt is incurred in pursuance of law upon presentation of the proper vouchers he draws his warrants upon the treasury for the amount. If there is not money appropriated to pay them, they must wait for a future appropriation and if the Legislature refuses to make appropriations to pay such legally contracted debts, the creditor can find a way to enforce their payment. This doctrine that the Secretary, in the absence of appropriations, cannot lawfully draw warrants, is a device to compel the Governor to call a special session, but the "repudiated and condemned" members (we are using the language which the Legislature applied to Senators Williams and Corbett, and which now returns with ten-fold force to plague its inventors) will discover that their strategy will not succeed. They have played their game out, and have been signally beaten.

"Persons in other States, who have no other knowledge of Oregon than what they gain from the Oregonian, can come to no other conclusion than that the majority party in the State is made up exclusively of ruffians and desperadoes, chiefly the dregs of Price's army, and that the voting population of Portland is largely composed of bummers and ragamuffins, whose votes are sold for whisky."

As every man knows that there are large numbers of "Democrats" in Oregon who boast of having served in Price's army, we will not say anything at this time on this point, but if we have done a portion of the Democratic voting population of Oregon injustice, we gladly make amends by copying from the local column of the Herald the following endorsement of the respectability and zeal of the acknowledged leader of that party in this city. We trust that those who have a knowledge of Portland affairs will admit that we have made full reparation, and that the character of the Democratic party of this city and of the State is fully vindicated by this publication:

"Mr. Joseph Petty, of the Brooklyn Hotel, on First street, below Oak, is so delighted at the first class style in which the Democrats of Eastern Oregon went after the Radicals and 'fetched them into camp,' that he has announced his desire to have the men of Baker and Union counties who may come this way to call at his place and have a free dinner. Joe understands things and will do as he says. Bully for him."

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune writing an account of Pennsylvania politicians, says of Governor Geary: He is a man of romantic history, without great culture or a particularly unwieldy mind. He has been Mayor of San Francisco, Mexican soldier, Governor of Kansas, General of the Armies of the Potomac and the Cumberland, and at last Governor of the State of Pennsylvania. He was a Breckinridge Democrat down to 1861. He lives near John Covode in the Allegheny region, is a powerful man, rather sluggish and hard in appearance, [illegible] mutilated with battle wounds and so far as I have heard has always been a man of strict integrity and scrupulousness.

Beriah is now devoting himself to the task of proving the beauty, excellence [illegible] and humanity of negro slavery. [illegible] he has an [illegible] and a half [illegible] in which he grows very [illegible] again the Abolitionists for the sin they committed in robbing their neighbor of his negro [illegible]. It would seem that Beriah is "preparing for the campaign of 1872" and that he expects to make the fight on that occasion a contest for the re-establishment of slavery.

The Herald publishes a letter written by B. H. Hill and calls him Senator elect from Georgia. We can tell that paper that Ben. Hill is not a Senator elect from Georgia. The Senator's name is Joshua Hill. Ben Hill is an unreconstructed rebel, while Joshua Hill has always been a Union man. Beriah is [illegible] in the use of names [illegible]

The Albany Democrat accounts for the great Republican gains in Oregon [illegible] that large numbers of Democrats went out in the woods [illegible] election day. [illegible] among Democrats. [illegible] and forgot to go to the polls.

The returns from Pennsylvania make Grant's majority about [illegible] in 1864 was 20,075. Here is a chance for Beriah to figure out Democratic gains and to prove by an exact mathematical calculation that the Democrat [illegible] triumph is only a question of time.

The Republican majority in [illegible] is [illegible]. The La Grande Times Extra of November 7th, says that the Democratic majority in Union county is 258. It has heretofore been reported at 307.

The Commercial Power of Railroads

Some writer on political economy remarks that the production of a [illegible] is less the [illegible] to satisfy a demand but is rather the creation of an agent which calls for the production of more. In this remark the whole philosophy of the growth of a country in material wealth is embodied. Set one industry into operation and it immediately creates a demand for another. Build one line of railroad and it necessitates the immediate construction of others. The rapidity with which villages and towns spring up along the route of each newly constructed road and the quickness with which the uncultivated land on either side blossoms into fertile farms awake a general wonder. It almost seems as if these narrow bands of iron were possessed of an astonishing magnetic power attracting people and settlements and establishing them in prosperity. The vast traffic and travel which railways seem to be built to accommodate have been in fact created by them. An English writer on the benefits of railways states that the increase of imports and exports of a country is in strict proportion to the development of its railways, and he exhibits tables which show in the case of England and several other European countries as well as the United States astonishingly accurate proofs of the existence of this proportion. The effect of rapid railway extension in all railroad countries is every way remarkable. It would seem at first that their effect would be to supplant altogether the old systems of transportation. Some English statistics on this subject show that at the present moment there is a larger and [illegible] traffic on common roads than in 1830, which from the fact that in England there is a mile of railway for every six square miles of country, is a result little to be expected. This shows that the railway traffic is additional and not derived from that which previously existed. The building of railroads in England reduced transportation rates to one fourth of the charges for transportation by canals, yet the consequence was not as might have been expected under the facility possessed by the railway in its competition for the carrying trade, that the transportation by canal would cease or be reduced, but on the contrary it increased, proving that the carriage of goods by railway was like that of passengers, a fresh creation, an entirely new increase of business. These facts, which no doubt may be found to exist all railway countries, are startling from their exposition that from the creation of a railroad not only springs those commercial and social facilities which are so highly prized, but also a new and immense amount of business which railroads absolutely create and which without these railroads would never have existed. The commercial power of railways is greater than any other agency, and the people of Oregon rejoice in the prospect that influences of this kind are soon to be felt in their own State.

Singular Affair

A MAN DIES WHILE BEING BAPTIZED.

[From the St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette.]

By your permission I report the following case with the attending circumstances, as I learned them from second parties who witnessed the solemn scene. At a baptism yesterday, October 18th, in the Platte river, four miles from this place, the ordinance was administered to several persons, among whom was Mr Stephens, of Third Fork. After being immersed, but while still in the river, he wiped his hands over his face a few times to free it of water, threw head and hands up and fell backwards in the water, whereupon his friends ran quickly in and took him out upon the bank, after which he died without a struggle. The people not knowing what to do, and being unprepared, there was, I suppose, but little done to resuscitate him. After taking him to the nearest house, I was sent for, and two hours afterward I saw the corpse and found his hands, arms and face cold, but there was considerable warmth in the axillar or arm pits. Percussion elicited a good resonance over the chest except a little dullness in the lower part of the right lung. The heart was still and he was evidently dead, and I made no effort to restore life. I learned from his friends that he never had convulsions or fits of any kind, and that he had been perfectly healthy up to this time. After he had been taken upon the bank, the radial pulse could be easily felt. In dying, there was a little frothy mucus issued from the corners of his mouth, but there was no stertor (snoring) in breathing or contortions of the facial muscles.

Now what caused this man's death? Did water enter the bronchial tubes in his efforts at inspiration in sufficient quantities to destroy life, or would not the spasmodic closure of the rima glottidis upon the contact of the water prevent this to any considerable extent? Besides as remarked there was a good chest sound, or resonance, under percussion, except in the lower part of the right lung. Could apoplexy or epilepsy cause his death? The usual signs of those were absent—stertor and convulsive movements of the muscles. Or can his death be accounted for from the physical shock upon the nervous system causing the syncope or fainting immediately after the immersion? This taken in connection with the disturbing influence that the small amount of water that he may have inhaled and swallowed might have had upon his mind and body, is the most plausible explanation that I can now give. A post mortem was refused.

F. A. SIMMONS, M. D.

Rochester, Mo., Oct 19, 1868.

We once asked Wendell Phillips if he had ever studied the works of any great orator as a model for his style. "No," he said. "I think my style grew naturally out of my training. Put an Abolitionist in a place like a district school house and he must state his principle so carefully that it shan't be successfully attacked. He must state it so simply that the commonest man in an audience of unlettered men can understand it. Then you must remember that, in advocating an unpopular cause, the slightest tendency to highflown [illegible] would make the speaker ridiculous. It would be borne with in a popular man in a popular cause, but an Abolitionist trying flights of rhetoric would be roared at, where men like [illegible], on the Fourth of July, would be loudly applauded. That is how an orator gets his training in the three elements of style. I think, if I have any power of speaking, it grew first from believing what I advocated, and then from forgetting everything else except an intense [illegible] to make my audience think as I do." —New York Independent.

[illegible].—The Chicago Post has the following:

The Louisville Journal the day before election gave assurance that if Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana went for Grant that all will be lost, and a darkness darker than Egypt's—a darkness that can be felt, and terribly felt—will settle down upon our whole land, never to be lifted by the [illegible] by the beams of any sun in all the universe of God." That is pretty dark, but there is one consolation in it, which is that, sombre as is the situation, there is gas enough in the Journal concern to light up again in the twinkling of an eye. Turn it on, neighbor.

The Late Democratic Panic

The following is a portion of an article from the New York Independent, written with great discrimination and judgment, on the late attempt to change the Democratic ticket:

It is suggested, however, that the World's pronunciamento is a flank movement in behalf of Hoffman as against Griswold—a surrender of New York State by the Democrats to Grant in exchange for a surrender of the State by Republicans to Hoffman. This plan will not work. The Empire State, when fully aroused (as it is now) is too intelligently Republican to be made a victim to such a bargain. So, both Seymour and Hoffman have been robbed of all their chances by the World's proposition.

Who, then, is to be the gainer by this recent "spasm of sense?" The World newspaper and the world in general.

After the humiliating defeat of next November, that journal will turn round to its own party, and say "Gentlemen, I told you so, heretofore, therefore, listen to me." The prevalent subserviency of the newspaper press to one or the other of the political parties which it serves is so conspicuous and degrading that we feel an unusual respect for any journal that has the grit to be bold, independent and defiant. Mr Marble, for his coup d'etat is entitled to the thanks of all his fellow craftsmen in journalism, of whatsoever party or opinion. Nine tenths of all the editors in this country are bond slaves. We clap our hands at any man who suddenly breaks his chain. Of course, a thousand blood hounds, with Brick Pomeroy at their head, will be chasing down the editor of the World—at whose escape, however, we shall be as happy to connive as if he were a panting negro in a rice swamp.

But while there is courage, there is also cowardliness in the World's position. That journal does not exhibit the heroism which prefers to fall with, rather than desert its colors. Eager to win the next election, the World is willing to sacrifice Democratic principles for the sake of Democratic success. A noble type of political manliness is to stand—"first, last and all the time"—for what one believes to be right. Then, whether in victory or defeat, a journal will not forfeit the public confidence, nor its editor his self respect. As it is, the World can never more be looked to for fidelity either to its friends or to its principles. Nevertheless, as both its friends and its principles were bad, it has acted wisely in abandoning both.

As the result of the World's invitation to Gov. Seymour—whom it loves and idolizes—to throw off a nomination which was thrust upon him against his will, we do not expect to see either a new platform or new candidates, but we shall quite likely see Gov. Seymour in the role of a plausible orator, attempting to prove that Frank Blair's letter was a forgery and that Frank Blair himself is a myth.

Thus the World's action has helped the Democratic party to become "a house divided against itself." And how long can a party last which in Ohio declares that the public debt shall be paid in currency, and in Massachusetts paid in coin? How long can a party last whose rivals for the Presidential nomination are of such opposite views as Pendleton and Chase? How long can a party last whose two latest speaking orators were the contrasting voices of Wade Hampton and John Quincy Adams?

No sign of the times is more cheering than the fact (admitted suddenly in response to the World) that a great section of the Democracy will go for Gen Grant. The sooner that party can occupy the present Republican platform the better for the nation. The Republican party needs to take a united step forward in the direction of liberty and equality. The Chicago platform is unworthy of Republicans and is fit only for Democrats. The Republican party ought to be at this moment pledged to equal suffrage North and South. Thaddeus Stevens was right when he denounced the Chicago platform as cowardly and time serving. But thanks to the World, "this dull chrysalis cracks into shining wings." Unsatisfactory to the Radicals of the Republican party, the Chicago platform has become all the more satisfactory to the [illegible] [illegible] Democratic. And after Gen Grant shall have gathered the War Democrats like a [illegible] to his bosom, the Republican party will be compelled to pull down its barn and build a greater [illegible] to piece its platform and build a better.

Accordingly, the rapid tour of the World, the Democratic War Meeting at Cooper Institute, the speech of Quincy Adams in South Carolina, the gathering volume of wrath against Blair and the universal back turning on Seymour—all are signs not only of a total overthrow of the present Democratic party, not only of the triumphant election of Gen Grant, but also of the subsequent uplifting of both great political parties to a higher moral level! And the greater the Republican victory in November the greater will be the general regeneration.

CELEBRATED
AROMATIC
SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS.

TO THE CITIZENS OF OREGON:

I BEG LEAVE TO CALL THE ATTENTION OF THE citizens of Oregon to my celebrated AROMATIC SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS, a medicinal Diet Drink of eminently salutary qualities, manufactured by myself, exclusively, at my factory at Schiedam, in Holland.

In Gravel, Gout and Rheumatism, in Obstructions of the Bladder and Kidneys, its effects are prompt, decided, and invariably reliable.

It is now some twenty years since the Proprietor first introduced it to the American public, and during that time he has received over 3,000 letters from physicians endorsing it as the purest liquor they have ever used in their practice.

It is made from barley of the finest quality, selected with great care from the products of the most celebrated grain growing districts, is flavored with the essence of the aromatic juniper berry of Italy, and is rectified by a peculiar process, which expels from the spirit every acrid particle.

As a means of preventing and correcting the disagreeable and often dangerous effects produced on the stomach and bowels by a change of water—a visitation to which travelers, new settlers, and all unacclimated persons are peculiarly liable—the

will be found absolutely infallible; while, in cases of dropsy, gravel, obstructions of the kidneys, diseases of the bladder, stricture, dyspepsia and general debility, it is recommended most emphatically by the most distinguished members of the medical profession.

It is put up in quart and pint bottles, in cases with the name of the undersigned on the bottle and cork, and a fac simile of his signature on the label. For sale by all respectable druggists and country merchants.

Are you WEAK, DEBILITATED, NERVOUS? Is your sleep disturbed? Do you have palpitation of the heart or an inclination to melancholy? Diseases of such nature require a prompt DIURETIC, which will be found in

Wolfe's Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps.

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps
Is sold by all Grocers and Apothecaries.

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps
Is recommended by all the Medical Faculty.

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps
Is imitated and counterfeited, and purchasers will have to use caution in purchasing.

WOLFE'S AROMATIC SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS,

Imported by UDOLPHO WOLFE, of New York, expressly for medicinal and private use.

WHAT DO YOU DRINK?

Real Estate in San F[illegible]—[illegible] the time of the great earthquake in San F[illegible] there was some [illegible] ulation here upon its [illegible] real estate. A similar [illegible] took place at San Francisco. [illegible] have fallen unusual [illegible] there has been no [illegible] in demand. We have good [illegible] for saying that a private letter has lately been [illegible] at this city from a reliable party at San Fr[illegible] It is incidentally stated that since the [illegible] real [illegible] cannot be sold at anything like the rates [illegible] prevailing that, in fact, sales were for [illegible] suspended. It would be natural [illegible] should be a little nervous for a while; but we are not among those who believe that San F[illegible] is to be abandoned to the owls and bats, or that P[illegible] is shortly to be the commercial seat of the P[illegible] or that some great new city is to be [illegible] up out of the ground by the shake down of a few walls in San F[illegible] We shall also get our share, [illegible] coast commerce according to [illegible] of [illegible] sources and enterprise of people; but the [illegible] supremacy of some other city over San F[illegible] Many such thing is ever to happen [illegible] cause than the occasional tumbling down of [illegible] and mortar.

Railroad Reconnoissance.—We learn that a [illegible] of railroad surveyors—we suppose they [illegible] to the East [illegible] Company—have just com[illegible] of the country lying between Portland and V[illegible] and that yesterday the party was engaged in [illegible] the Columbia river nearly opposite the latter town. We have not heard of any expressed intention on the part of the East Side Company, to take immediate steps for an extension of this road to Puget S[illegible] but this looks as though they intend either to do that, or so occupy the route in advance, as to be in the way of [illegible] to any company which may [illegible] the enterprise. The Vancouver people are in high spirits over the prospect—however real or unreal it may be. They make sure of being one of the way stations [illegible] the road to Puget Sound be built by [illegible] the [illegible] Central or the Union Pacific Company, and already begin to calculate the rise in values of town [illegible] We advise our neighbors to go slow; it will be some [illegible] yet before either company will have a road in [illegible] him as far as Vancouver.

Serious Accident.—About ten o'clock [illegible] Mr. Peter Emery, a bricklayer at work upon Mr. J. P. Walker's new factory, met with a dis[illegible] He was at work upon a scaffold, about twenty feet from the ground, when reaching forward to place his [illegible] [illegible] under one of the arches of a window, a brace upon which he was leaning gave way and precipitated him to the ground among some timbers. He narrowly and by an involuntary muscular effort, [illegible] falling [illegible] upon one of the timbers. His right ankle was badly crushed, some of the splinters of bone passing through the skin—and his right arm was fractured. He was otherwise badly bruised. He was [illegible] taken up and carried to a house hard by, [illegible] Dr Chapman set the broken bones, and then he was brought down to the Exchange Hotel, where he is now under the care of brothers of the Odd Fellows and Good Templar organizations. There is no reason to fear but that he will recover, though it will no doubt be a long time before he will again be out.

The News.—Men are [illegible] in [illegible] to getting and telling "the news." [illegible] men know the news by instinct, [illegible] learn only after [illegible] Some men tell all they know with [illegible] others have to be elaborately pump[illegible] The former are the sort with whom [illegible] no matter where and no matter when. Biles is one of this [illegible] If he knows anything he [illegible] tells the reporters without subjecting either [illegible] or them to the [illegible] process. But Biles [illegible] just like any [illegible] general rule. We met Biles as [illegible] and asked him, as usual, "What's the news [illegible] river?" Biles replied at length "[illegible] Grant's elected and—everything is lovely; the river is rising [illegible] Grant's elected, everything is lovely), [illegible] Grant's elected; that's what's the matter [illegible] despair of getting any news out of Biles [illegible] but Biles was radiant, joyful. Why shouldn't [illegible] Grant's elected and the river rising!

[illegible] Mails.—Breaks in the mails between [illegible] are rather too frequent. We are not aware [illegible] may be, but we give the following [illegible] Transcript as explaining how they understand [illegible] at the other end of the route; "On Thursday [illegible] last when the stage arrived the usual [illegible] connection at Monticello, was the [illegible] as we entered the P. O. [illegible] the case every week for at least four weeks [illegible] failure invariably having occurred from the [illegible] of the Portland boat at Monticello [illegible] letter written by Mr Gunn, from [illegible] at 2 P. M., says: 'No boat [illegible] hope of getting to Portland to[illegible] the railroad companies will [illegible] that we can hear from the Columbia [illegible] in a long time.'"

Dedication Ball.—The Washington Guard's Festival [illegible] the evening of T[illegible] day, December 1st [illegible] they will open their new armory with [illegible] and dancing—with revelry and [illegible] time engaged in converting the [illegible] Theater into an armory and hall. [illegible] alterations will be completed in a few days. [illegible] know the exact size of the ball [illegible] commodious—enough so to [illegible] assemblage. The approaching [illegible] one of the company's best. Tickets [illegible] member of the [illegible]

[illegible] made a fashionable rendering of [illegible] atmospheric app[illegible] [illegible] weather did on Tuesday night [illegible] but the wind must have been [illegible] Bend it was on a [illegible] of some [illegible] through the casements, roared [illegible] corners and slammed things very promiscuously. It got out of breath, however, before [illegible] and the morning came on as calm almost as the [illegible] which the poet got stuck after.

[illegible] IN SAN FRANCISCO.—At the time of the [illegible] in San Francisco there was some spec[illegible] its probable affect upon the value of [illegible] similar discussion, no doubt, took place [illegible] for we see that the newspapers there [illegible] pains to convince everybody that [illegible] no depreciation in value and no relaxation [illegible]. We have good authority, however, for saying [illegible] letter has lately been received at this [illegible] party at San Francisco in which it is [illegible] that since the earthquake real estate [illegible] at anything like the rates formerly pre[illegible] In fact, sales were for a time almost entirely [illegible] would be natural enough that people [illegible] nervous for a while, but we are not [illegible] who believe that San Francisco is to be [illegible] the owls and bats, or that Portland is [illegible] metropolitan seat of the Pacific Coast; or [illegible] new city is to be shook up out of the [illegible] down of a few walls in San Francisco [illegible] our share, no doubt, of the Pacific [illegible] according to extent of country re[illegible] of people; but the commercial [illegible] other city over San Francisco—if any [illegible] to happen—must come of some other [illegible] tumbling down of bricks and [illegible].

[illegible] SURVEY.—We learn that a party of [illegible]—we suppose they belong to the East [illegible]—have just completed a reconnoissance of [illegible] between Portland and Vancouver, and [illegible] the party was engaged in sounding the [illegible] nearly opposite the latter town. We [illegible] of any expressed intention on the part of [illegible] Company, to take immediate steps for an [illegible] road to Puget Sound, but this action [illegible] they intend either to do that, or to secure [illegible] in advance, as to be in the way of selling [illegible] which may hereafter undertake the [illegible]. The Vancouver people are in high spirits [illegible] however real or unreal it may be [illegible] of being one of the way stations, whether [illegible] Puget Sound be built by either the Oregon [illegible] Union Pacific Company and already be[illegible] the rise in values of town property. We [illegible] to go slow, it will be some weeks [illegible] company will have a road in running [illegible] of Vancouver.

[illegible].—About ten o'clock yesterday Mr [illegible] a bricklayer at work upon Mr J. P. [illegible] factory, met with a distressing accident. [illegible] upon a scaffold about twenty feet from [illegible] when reaching forward to place his overalls [illegible] under one of the arches of a window [illegible] which he was leaning gave way and precipi[illegible] to the ground among some timbers. He nar[illegible] by an involuntary muscular effort, escaped [illegible] upon one of the timbers. His right [illegible] badly crushed—some of the splinters of bone [illegible] through the skin—and his right arm was frac[illegible] He was otherwise badly bruised. He was imme[illegible] taken up and carried to a house hard by, where [illegible] set the broken bones, and then he was [illegible] down to the Ex[illegible] Hotel, where he is [illegible] care of the [illegible] of the Odd Fellows and Good [illegible] organizations. There is no reason to fear to [illegible] recover, though it will no doubt be a long [illegible] he will again be out.

[illegible].—Men are differently gifted in regard to [illegible] telling the news. Some men know the [illegible] others learn only after particular in[illegible] Some men tell all they know without being [illegible] have to be elaborately pumped. The former [illegible] with whom newspaper reporters delight [illegible] matter where and no matter when. Biles [illegible] sort. If he knows anything he usually tells [illegible] without subjecting either himself or them [illegible] process. But Biles has his exceptions [illegible] other general rule. We met Biles an eve[illegible] since and asked him, as usual, "What's [illegible] up the river?" Biles replied at length: [illegible] Grant's elected and—everything is lovely, the [illegible] and—Grant's elected, everything is lovely [illegible] rising and—Grant's elected; that's what's [illegible]." In despair of getting any news out of [illegible] him. But Biles was radiant, joyful. Why [illegible] be?—Grant's elected and the river rising.

[illegible] OF MAILS.—Breaks in the mails between [illegible] Olympia are rather too frequent. We are not [illegible] whose fault it may be, but we give the following [illegible] Olympia Transcript as explaining how they un[illegible] the matter at the other end of the route: "On [illegible] evening last when the stage arrived, the usual [illegible] story of 'no connection' at Monticello was the [illegible] that greeted our ears as we entered the P. The Bitter Fruits of Bad Bitters.—Invalid reader! Do you know what nine-tenths of the bitters [illegible] you are solicited by the proprietors to accept as universal panaceas are [illegible] Give heed [illegible] They are manufactured from [illegible] [illegible] fusel oil [illegible] of the regular [illegible] of the State in Medica [illegible] herbal extracts [illegible] The essence of sound Rye thoroughly rectified is the only stimulant which can be safely used as a component of a Tonic, Alterative and anti-bilious medicine, and HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the only medicinal preparation in the world in which this article is used as an ingredient. Hence the extraordinary effects of this great specific. It gives strength without producing excitement. No other Tonic does this. All the ordinary Bitters flush the face and affect the brain. HOSTETTER'S BITTERS diffuse an agreeable calm through the nervous system, promote digestion and produce sleep. No other tonic so quickly revives the exhausted physical energies, restores the appetite and removes the gloom and depression which always accompany the loss of the bodily powers.

Eureka.—Archimedes is said to have uttered this word on finding out, after long and patient study, a method of detecting the adulteration of King Hiero's crown. So many others (after suffering for years with Consumption) have said when they tried NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP and found that it cured them.

Florida.—"The land of flowers," where nature scatters with her generous hand beauty and fragrance, and burdens every zephyr with delightful odors. Such is REDINGTON & CO.'S FLORIDA WATER.

Cooper's Balm.—Though it may not be infallible, it will stand the test with any other single compound in the world, and ought to be in the possession of every Family, Traveler, Mariner and Boatman. Your own experience is the best testimony that can be had in reference to it; therefore prove it for yourself, for it is a remedy to be at hand for every time of need, and is, emphatically, the PEOPLE'S MEDICINE.

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

Denton on the Origin of Petroleum.

Prof. Denton says that petroleum is not a coal oil, but a coral oil. Among his arguments in support of this theory, are the following: It is rarely met with in a coal district. Not even a smell of it has Prof. D. perceived in any of the coal mines which he has visited. "If it is from coal, it should never be found in rocks older than the coal measures. The contrary is true. "In this country nearly all the oil hitherto obtained has been from beds that lie below the coal measures, and sometimes at a great depth below them. On Oil Creek, in Pennsylvania, it is found by boring in shales and sandstones, sometimes to a depth of a thousand feet; these beds belonging to the Chemung group of the Devonian formation, and many hundred feet below the coal measures. At Enniskillen, in Canada West, where the oil has at one time come up in springs, and overflowed, leaving a thick bed of asphaltum covering the ground for an acre, the limestone in which borings are made contains characteristic fossils of the Hamilton group of the Devonian formation. The oil wells in Western Kentucky, and in some parts of Tennessee, are in the Trenton limestone—that is, in the lower Silurian formation. The same oil floats on the surface of a limestone quarry near Chicago, the limestone belonging to the Niagara group of the Silurian formation; showing conclusively that it has no necessary connection with coal."

The immense quantity of free oil forbids the belief that it could have been produced from sea plants. It would require large subterranean lakes of it to pour out the thousands of barrels which some wells have daily yielded. The sea-weeds of the Silurian and Devonian times contained so little bituminous matter that their impressions do not even darken the light colored shales in which they are found.

Against the theory that it has been distilled from bituminous shales, may be said, that for this strong heat is required; and generally, where it is found in greatest abundance, there is the least appearance of igneous action.

Prof. D. has in his possession numerous specimens of fossil coral from Devonian and Silurian rocks, the honeycomb cells of which are filled with this oil. He has seen the same from different parts of the country. We quote a portion of his conclusion: "I have found it repeatedly in these corals, and in no other part of the rock, invariably accompanying the corals, and never connected with any other fossil; these corals frequently in the center of limestone blocks. Reefs of such coral would furnish oil in sufficient quantities to account for the immense deposits that have been discovered. Preserved by them in compact bodies, the oil taking up at least half the space of the coral reef, we can readily suppose that when the cells were crushed by the superincumbent weight of rock, or during upheavals and subsidences, cavities and crevices in the earth's interior would be filled by it. It is then an animal production, and not a vegetable one."

A "FIRST RATE" OLD-LINE NOTICE OF HOWELL COBB.—A Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial having mentioned to a neighbor the death of Howell Cobb, "Great God, you don't tell me so, sir," he replied. "Well, sir, I was an ole line Whig—born so, you may say, but ole Howell Cobb lived in my house [years]. He named his son after me. Great God! Is he dead? Well, sir, you may talk about Cobb, neighbor, for we all have our faults—but he was a consistent member of the Baptist Church. Great God! is he dead? Why, he wa'n't no secessionist. He was led into it against his will, like every one of 'em. He must a' weighed nigh on to three hundred. He was monstrous fat, and the cleverest gentleman I ever set eyes on. Great God! Yes, sir, he was rich, or his wife was. She had a hundred and fifty niggers. And he's dead! He lived at Athens. I went there once from Washington on an errand for him. I told you he named his boy after me, didn't I? Great leaky eye! Well, sir, while he was Secretary of the Treasury he lived on Fifteenth street, just above Riggs' bank. He kept open house. He was a mighty fat man. And he's dead?"

* Money Order Offices.

The Post Office at Portland, Oregon, is a depository for mail bags, locks and keys.

Mr. Zachariah Wilson, Portland, Oregon, writes:

"It requires an article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself during the stormy ordeal of public experiments. Murray's Improved Magic Oil has stood the test of time and has not been found wanting. The astonishing efficacy that I experienced—its curing me of Chronic Rheumatism and Lumbago, of long standing entitles Dr. Murray's Premium Lung and Liver Balsam and Improved Magic Oil to a high rank in the list of remedies for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Ear-ache, Distressing Pains etc."

John English of Howell Prairie, Marion county, Oregon writes:

"I was taken with a severe attack of Rheumatism in my knee joints and extremities accompanied with a severe cough for two months so that I had to use crutches, meanwhile trying all remedies in common use. Your Magic Oil and Balsam gave me instant relief, and I was able to walk in four days without crutches. I have not felt any rheumatism since. I have seen your family medicines used with excellent success. I have no hesitancy in saying it is the best preparation for family use ever tried for those complaints. I am now on my way to South America after residing in Oregon twenty years. I must now have two dozens Balsam and two dozens of your Magic Oil, dollar bottles, as I am sure they are the best remedies in Oregon, and I would not be without them in my house, and when this package of medicine is exhausted I will send to your office in Portland for a fresh supply. J. ENGLISH."

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.

It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought to the public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

E. B. MOORE,
A. L. WALLACE,
Mrs. MONTGOMERY,
W. D. PORTER,
NATHANIEL BELL,
G. R. WARD,
JOHN M. HOLLOWAY,
ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others in that vicinity.

Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.

Prepared by SMITH & ROACH,
Harrisburg, Oregon.

SMITH & DAVIS, Portland, Oregon.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies; see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them, until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.
